Purpose of Project:

Public Transport System (PTS) is an electronic system to provide real-time information for the passengers to display the arrival and departure times of the buses. This will let the passengers know when their bus would arrive and to plan their journey accordingly, for planning a journey the public transport system provides the users to find the suggested journey's to commute between the source and destination

.This application should list the bus-route number, fare details, distance and also allow the user to view the same in a map-view.

Alternatively, the user can also key-in the bus route number to find relevant details of the source and destination. We have designed an incident capture systems that would display the details of all the bus services that would reach within a particular route by calculating the time taken by the buses that are about to arrive, route number, ETA in minutes, Destination of the bus route, and the direction when the user keys-in the bus stop name ,and also public transport system provides the passenger to find the accurate time it would take for a bus to reach the stop, that the user would board to reach their desired destination.

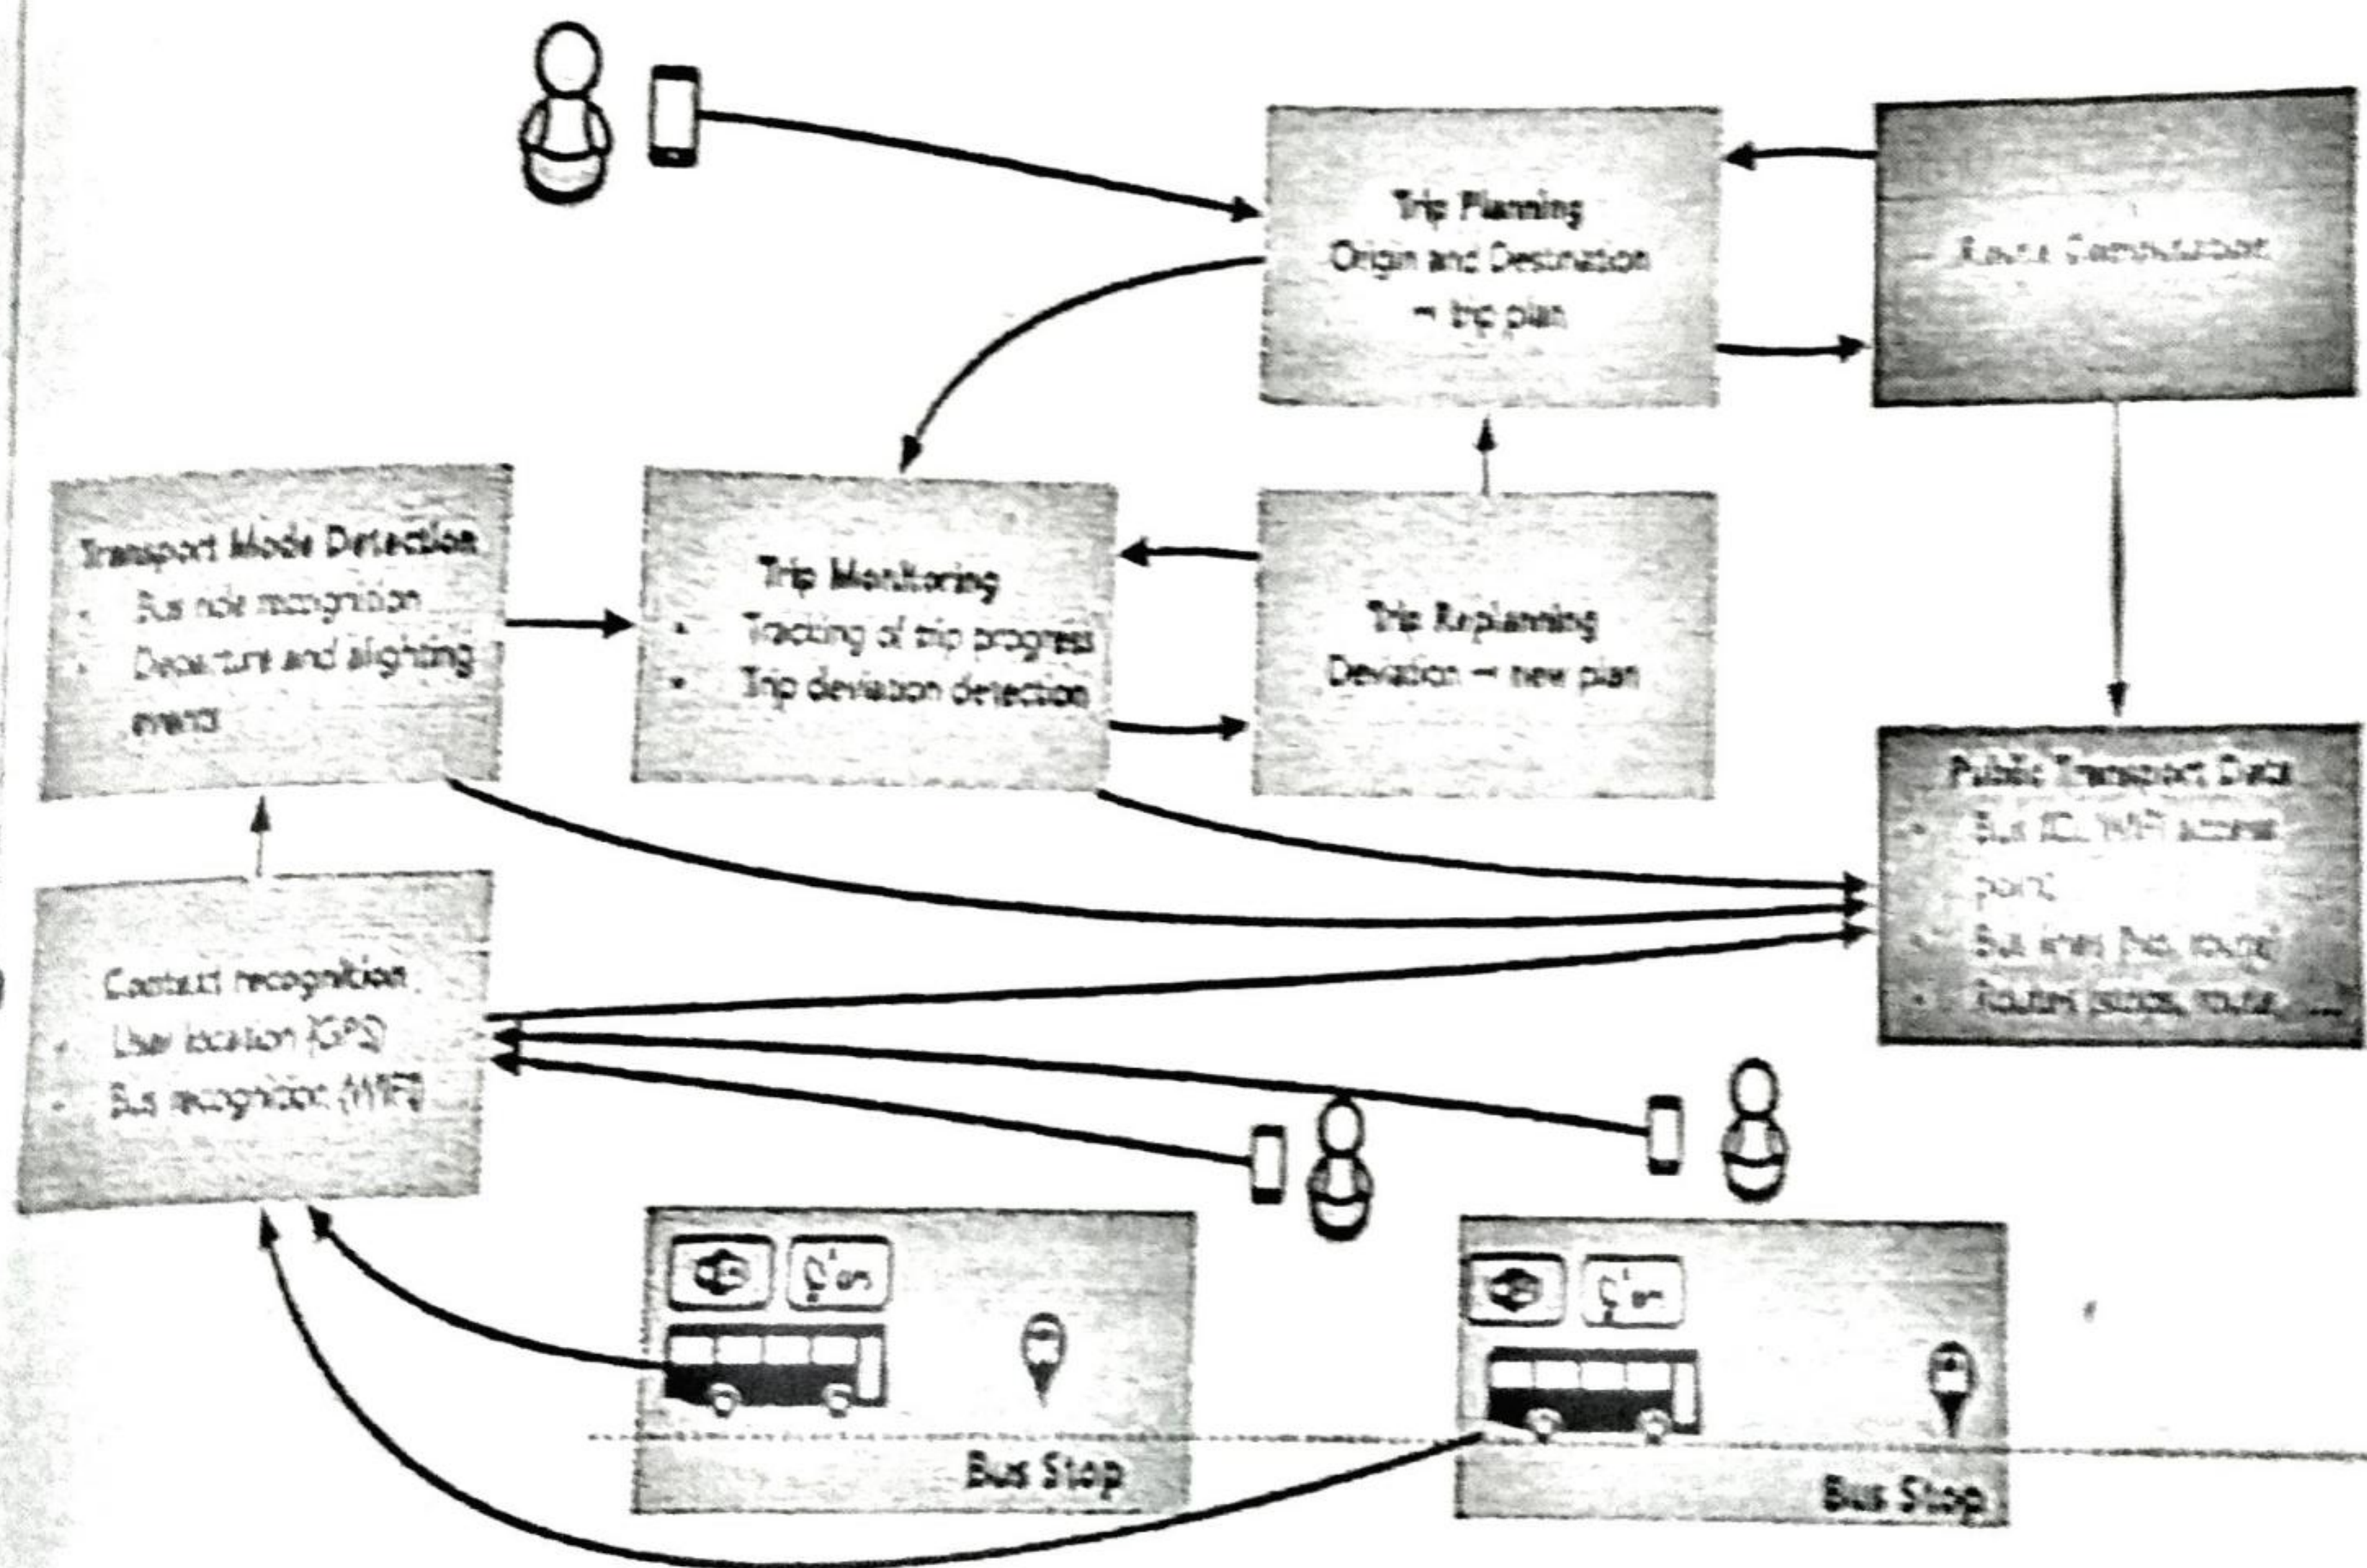

The main aim of proposed system is Estimate Time of Arrival. project proposes a solution for enhancing public transportation management services based on GPS and GSM, parameters like location of the bus, traffic density. By the way the bus arrival timing are also listed out clearly with the help of the GPS. While searching in another web application or maps the bus routes are not well updated But here we are providing the clear bus routes to the passengers or the users .In estimated time of arrival we have listed the up and downtime routes clearly.

COMPETATIVE ADVANTAGES:

- It provides dynamic updates of the real time information.
- PTS provides the modules for journey planner and Estimation Time of Arrival which helps the public to make decisions about their journey.
- User can easily search their alternative routes with feasible time.
